So votes in a total of 20,000. The Twelfth Senatorial District is on the east side of town north of Grand street and south of Fourteenth. It was carried last year by Hill for Governor by 2,345 votes.

The Thirteenth Senatorial District, on the west side of town, north of Canal and south of Twentleth street, is the closest district in the city, if not in the State, for it gave at the last election: Hill, 11,563, Morton, 11,560. The Democratic lead in the district therefore was eight votes in a total of 22,000.

The new Fourteenth Senatorial District is a Tammalay stronghold. It gave Hill at the late election 4,000 majority, it extends from Fourteenth to Frity-first street on the east side of town.

The Fifteenth Senatorial District is strongly Republican. It is in the centre part of town, and gave Mr. Morton last year 6,978 majority.

The Sixteenth Senatorial District, on the west side, north of Twentleth and south of Forty-sixth street, includes the present Thirteenth and Fifteenth Assembly Districts substantially. It gave Hill a majority last year of 1,000 votes.

The Seventeenth Senatorial District is in the same region of town, extending from Porty-sixth to Eighty-ninth street. It gave at last year's election a Democratic plurality of 1,762 on the Six'e ticket.
